separatividad

Separativity is the result of the low frequency at which our mind is vibrating and is what has made us enter the dimension of time and space that exists in this world. Our mind is a point of distortion similar to a prism that when touched by light, it breaks down into well-defined colors and frequency ranges that can capture our view, but light is the same and all distortion results in diversity, but everything has a single origin and so it is in our mind, then by placing ourselves on the other side of it we will experience the unity that is not something physical, but the essence from which everything arises to its manifestation.
