

SPANISH DICTIONARY

JuaNda LondOño

INTRODUCTION

www.wordmeaning.org is an open and collaborative dictionary project that, apart from being able to consult meanings of words, also offers its users the possibility of including new words or nuancing the meaning of existing words in it. As is understandable, this project would be impossible to carry out without the esteemed collaboration of the people who follow us around the world. This e-Book, therefore, was born with the intention of paying a small tribute to all our collaborators.

JuaNda LondOño has contributed to the dictionary with 1 meanings that we have approved and collected in this small book. We hope that the reader is very valuable and if you find it useful or want to be part of the project, do not hesitate to visit our website, we will be delighted to receive you.

Working Group

www.wordmeaning.org

sobreproducción

The term overproduction or overproduction refers to the economic situation in which the supply of products exceeds demand. When it is widespread and durable, the country that suffers enters crisis, because it is unable to dispose of their stocks. The companies are forced to reduce its activities and to dispense with the workers party, when not to close, thereby causing a major social problem. An example of a crisis of overproduction was suffered by United States after the first world war, when its economy, adapted during the war to provide the allies from supplies and military equipment, was found with a significant reduction in demand as Europe rebuilding its economy. Excess of non-marketable products affected particularly badly agro.